

Doug Rothermel, MBA, CHESP
AHE At-Large Board Member
Director, Environmental Services
St. Joseph's Hospital, Tampa, FL

LEADERSHIP IN ENVIRONMENTAL SERVICES

A

T FOWJSPONFOUBM TFSW-JDFT & 74 MFBEFST VOEFS standing and promoting leadership throughout your organization should be something that
JT XPSLFE PO FWFSZ TJOHMF EBZ *O UIF OO

As the now senior executive is telling us the story, most EVS leaders can remember going through the same scenario at least 100 times. He added that spending time with the team members, BTLJOH RVFTUJPOT BOE HFUJJOH UPMUIF CPU the difference in their heated battle. His next statement is worth noting: •If you can do this, you can do anything.Ž It's a nice compn.7(n d)-20

Often we jump to the wrong conclusions based upon incomplete JOGPSNBUIJPO BOE MBDL PG VOEFSTEUBOEJCU UBLJOH UJNF UP VOEFSTUBOE UIF CFUUF PVS UFBN *U T B MJGF TLJMM UMBW RUTSBO XPSL IPNF XJUI GBNJMZ BOE GSTJGOVMT FU leader in EVS, then you can undoubtedly do anything you desire.

5P GVSUIFS EFWFMPQ ZPVS MFBEFSTIJQ minded EVS professionals, and learn about the newest and most FGGFDUJWF QSPEVDUT JO UIF NBSI&FU CF 2014 in sunny and breezy Tampa, Florida, September 21-24, 2014. * DBO U XBJU UP TFF ZPV UIFSF

Portions of this article were originally published in the third quarter (August 2012) issue of AHE's Phoenix newsletter.